He is All Right.

In the event that Congressman Sparkman should stand for the senate—which, however, does not now seem probable—the Times wants to put itself on record right now as favoring a Tampa man as his successor in the house. And we have already picked out the man—Hon. P. G. Wall, a successful business man a close student of the science of government, a man well equipped in every respect to represent the district with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the people. There are few men of Mr. Wall's age in this state who have demonstrated such eminent ability and sound judgment as he has. Further, he has a wide acquaintance and is very popular, and should he become a candidate he would have the hearty support of hosts of friends in all parts of the district.—Tampa Times, January 1st.

Mr. Gilchrist's Card.

Gen. Albert W. Gilchrist, of Punta Gorda, is sending out some very artistic post cards, in furtherance of nomination for Governor. The cards are adorned with a fine picture of the general, and another picture represents three monkeys—one with its hands over its ears, another with its hands over its eyes and a third with a hand over its mouth. Beneath this picture is the following inscription:

"On a famous temple in Japan there are represented three monkeys, suggesting 'Hear, see, speak no evil.' This is intended as object lesson inculcating charity as to the faults of others. Albert W. Gilchrist has them painted on his office building in Punta Gorda, Fla.

"Vote for Albert W. Gilchrist. He feels sure he will be elected governor of Florida, if he gets votes enough. He will be opposed by a 'band of patriots' who have monopolized all of the political virtues. They organize the ward, city, county and state politics, always with an eye from the main chance and for the p-e-a-p-u-l-l. They are the p-e-a-p-u-l-l, pulling the last pea out of the pot for themselves. He is not on the 'band wagon.' Walking is good enough for him."

A Tale of Two Parrots.

An old maid had a parrot whose favorite expression was, "I wish the old woman was dead."

This worried her a great deal, and one day when the minister called she spoke to him about it. He said he had a parrot which only said religious things and that he would bring it over some time and see if it would not break her bird from using its favorite expression.

So one night they were going to have a meeting in her house, and he gathered up his parrot and took it with him. When he went in he hung his cage up near where the old maid's was hanging. The meeting was being opened with prayer, and all of a sudden her parrot said:

"I wish the old woman was dead." The minister's parrot cocked his head and, looking at the other parrot, in a solemn voice said:

"We beseech thee to hear us, good Lord."—Judge's Library.

Rotation of Crops.

It seems that every force in nature is trying to compel the farmer to practice a rotation of crops. If corn is grown for several years on the same plot, the land will be infected with all manner of insects, from the root worm and louse to the insect that eats the tassel. The farmer who grows wheat year after year on the same plot of ground has the Hessian fly and the chinch bug to contend with; cotton plants and tobacco planter have each insects to fight and fungous diseases to overcome because one crop has been grown continuously for a number of years on the same plot. If rotation is practiced these insects and diseases may be held in check. If rotation is not followed no remedy will destroy or overcome them.—Southern Cultivator.
